A LITTLE MATTER OF HISTORY. -Our readers will remember that some time since Miss Wright, of Winchester, Va., was presented by Gen. Sheridan with a magnificent gold watch and chain, in acknowledgment of valuable services rendered him during the war. General Sheridan, while on a recent visit to his home in Somerset, Ohio, related the secret of this present to some friends, which is thus given by p. m.; and Alexandria at 7.00 a. m. and 7.15 p.

the Advocate, published at that place, in the 4.07 a. m., and at Richmond at 4.00 p. m. General's own language : "Miss Wright, of Winchester, Va. ? 'Tis her fault she got into the newspapers, not mine. When I was preparing to drive Early out of that place, I needed information of its fortifications, strength, and the numbers I should have to encounter. Disaster had so frequently overcome our forces in the Valley that I felt extremely anxious to share the honor of reversing our fortunes in that region. Gen. Grant had confided this great work to my charge. -President Lincoln regarded my success as extremely essential, and the whole country seemed to hold its breath, as if listening for the news from my army. Gen. Grant visited me, I suppose, for the purpose of ascertaining whether I fairly comprehended the situation, and becoming satisfied with my precautions, he made use of the homely, but very significant phrase: 'Go in.' But before I did this I learned something of Miss Wright, who is a maker lady, and resides with her parents in Winchester, who, like myself, were unim- From and after June 3, the coaches will run peachably loyal. I had never seen her, only knew of her through spies and scouts, but I determined to obtain some information from her, believing I could rely on it as genuine. A colored man in the neighborhood of my headquarters held a pass to go and come from Win-chester with marketing. I had him brought secretly to my headquarters, and having convinced myself that "he would do to tie to," placed a small piece of paper in a small piece of tin foil and wrapped it up so closely that he could take it in his mouth, while the foil protected it from injury, directing him to deliver his next marketing to Miss Wright; not to go into the house, but leave the moment he had delivered the foil, and go about as if on other business until her answer was ready and wrapped up in a like manner. I thus obtained much valuable information, and when I made an attack on Early's forces knew there would be a desperate and bloody conflict, but my reliance on what Miss Wright had told me, and on what I knew from other sources, never failed me through the severest trials on that memorable day. On my recent visit to Washington, I made it convenient to go to Winchester, and to present to this unaffectedly modest lady some token of my gratitude. I accordingly tendered her a fine gold watch, which cost me several hundred dollars, and would have given her other valuable presents had my exchequer warranted them, but while I made my visit and my token of gratitude a profound secret, she would not restrain her disposition to make them both known, and I instantly became the victim of another rumor implicating me in making love to another 'Southern lady.' GEORGIA WHEAT. - They are shipping large quantities of wheat out in Georgia. Certain sanguine people take this as evidence of their having a surplus there. But the interence is unwarrantable. They are in sore need of money in that State. Their lands and wheat crops are under lien for it. They want money to secure their cotton crops. The wheat was harvested sooner by a fortnight there than elsewhere. And they have very few good flouring mills. All these things make it more profitable for the Georgians to hurry their wheat into market, than to hold it back, grind and consume it. The practice there is to sell wheat and buy flour. The shipment of wheat early has enabled them to get seventy-five cts. to a dollar more for it, than if they had waited till the whole crop of the Union came rushing into the markets. It is with with Georgian wheat as with truck-farming about Norfolk. -The early bird gets the worm. The flow of wheat out of Georgia, is the evidence of nothing but urgent need of money, and a determined purpose by early shipments to realize the greatest possible returns. By Christmas, Georgia will be a heavy buyer of flour, which she will get in sacks from Louisville, Nashville and from the river above Memphis. She will pay four to five dollars a handred for flour, after selling wheat for the equivalent of six and a half per hundred of flour .- Norfolk Journal.

for the colored man, it would be unsafe, even now, to reward him suitably for his devotion to our cause.

WHAT SHALL BE DONE WITH OUR CHAR-LEY?-Set him to work. "Twenty devils employ the man who does not employ himself," says a Spanish proverb; and boys are no exception. They have a superabundance of animal life, which is always boiling over, and it must run into one of two channels - the channel of mischief or the channel of use. And it depends altogether on which channel it takes as to which one of the two types of character will be found in manhood-that of shiftlessness, or that of thrift.

MAXIMILIAN'S BODY GUARD -About one hundred and forty members of Mamimilian's body guard sailed for London to-day on the William Penn. These men formed a part of the Foreign Lagion, that did so much execution among the Mexican guerrillas. They arrived at this port on Thursday, from Vera Cruz, on the French men-of-war Phlegethon and Bouret. They were accompanied by fifty Avery, corner of King and Alfred streets, and or sixty members of the foreign diplomatic le- solicit a continuance of the patronage extended gations to Mexico. - N. Y. Post of Saturday.

BASE BALL. - The New York Sun is in favor of encouraging out-door games, and especially the game of base ball. It says: It leads the young away from the gaming table; away from in-door sports; away from carriage riding and towards that only sure road to health-hard bodily exercise. There is no other method than this by which sedentary city busness pursuits can be safely folowed.

PER PHOSPHATE OF LIME.—The best superphosphate yet offered to the farmer, possessing all the activity of Peruvian Guano, but being far more durable in its effects. It contains a large amount of animal matter in a highly concentrated form, which, combined with its soluble hone phosphate of lime, canno fail to render it very valuable as a tertilizer .-Notwithstanding we believe it to be the best super-phosphate in the market, yet, by a process peculiar in its manufacture, whereb the expenses are lessened, we are enabled to sell it very low, with a liberal discount to dealers.
